Character-Defining Elements (selected)

- location on an alleyway, which allows for windows on the east façade.
- upper storey double-hung wooden-sash windows.
- the integrity of the building envelope, which identifies it as a nineteenth-century commercial building
- storefront, cast-iron columns and large windows with transoms, which allow for a well-lit interior.
- decorative façade, including: incised scrolled ornamentation, "W.G. Cameron" name plate, the prominent cornice, and the arch above the two central windows.
