Argyle Attic and the Quality Inn Downtown Victoria has a long-standing history within its surrounding community as a solid small business whereby its reputation for operations has been exceptional and there have not ever been issues with respect to enforcement or contraventions. The applicant has always worked with their various inspectors. As a small business operator, the operators work diligently to ensure they are always compliant with all policies, regulations and terms and conditions of their Food Primary liquor license prescribed by the Liquor Control and Licensing Branch.

Argyle Attic is proposing to have an Open Mic night that would allow local musicians and performers to participate in a cozy environment. This would be a small gathering of people as the licence accommodates 56 patrons, but we believe this would have great cultural impact in the area of Courtney Street. The street is home to government offices, law courts, a parking lot, a few small businesses alongside the Victoria Library, and an apartment building with the Sticky Wicket at the far end of the block.

All performances would be acoustic with no requirements for amplified music. The only additional equipment or materials, would be a carpet and a light to showcase the performer.

We hope you find this summary along with the required application in keeping with your expectations. Any questions or concerns are welcome and I would gladly look forward to hearing them.

Thank you,

Barry Rabold,
